When the driver arrived, he laughed at the short distance he was taking her. The student advised that she did not appreciate this and told the driver he should "shut the fuck up and drive" The driver then told her, "How about you get the fuck outta my car" The student then stated he laid a hand on her to push her back out of the vehicle. The driver's information was added to the CAD. During her interaction with the officers, the student used a combination of angry responses and obscene language towards the officers. The officer explained that he would be completing a report on the incident, and he then explained the process for her to take out warrants at the magistrate's office. When doing so, the student cut off the officer and loudly stated, "I'm fine; I don't need any fucking resources" She then immediately calmed down and said, "I know you have to offer them to me, so thank you."
